A group of six people are gathered around a large wooden table in a room with yellow walls. They are all focused on reviewing various documents and papers spread across the table. A woman with blonde hair in a ponytail and glasses is on the left, writing in a notebook. Next to her is a man with a beard and glasses, also looking at a document. In the center, a man with grey hair and glasses is looking down at a paper. To his right, a man in a white shirt and dark vest is looking at a document with his hand on his forehead. Further right, another man is partially visible, looking down. On the far right, an older man with white hair and glasses is looking towards the center. The table is cluttered with papers, a water bottle, a mobile phone, and other small items. The background shows a white door and a red wall with a floral pattern.
